

REGISTRATION TERMS AND CONDITIONS

IFPA Conference 2027

Effective date: 1 September 2026

1. Application and acceptance

These Registration Terms and Conditions apply to registrations for the IFPA Conference 2027, organized by IFPA, the International Federation of Psoriasis Associations. Please read these Terms and Conditions carefully before completing your registration.

By submitting the online registration form, you confirm that you have read, understood, and agree to these Terms and Conditions. If you register on behalf of another participant, you are responsible for ensuring that the participant has received and accepted these Terms and Conditions.

IFPA may update these Terms and Conditions if necessary. The version published at the time of registration applies, unless otherwise required under mandatory Swedish law.

2. Registration process

Registration must be completed through the official IFPA Conference registration platform. Registrations are personal and must contain accurate and complete information.

After submitting the registration form, participants will receive an acknowledgement by email. The registration is confirmed only once payment has been received and processed.

IFPA may decline, cancel, or limit a registration where required for safety, compliance, capacity, or other legitimate event-related reasons.

3. Registration fees and payment

Registration fees, categories, deadlines, and what is included in each fee will be published on the IFPA Conference website and registration platform.

All fees are stated and payable in Swedish krona (SEK). In accordance with applicable regulations, IFPA's conference services are exempt from income tax and are therefore not subject to VAT.

Payment must be completed by the due date stated during registration or on the invoice. Unpaid registrations may be considered incomplete, and access to the Conference may be withheld until full payment has been received.

Invoices and payment confirmations will be issued digitally using the information provided during registration and sent to the email address entered in the registration form.

4. Name changes

Requests for name changes must be submitted in writing to the IFPA Conference registration office. Name changes may be accepted until the deadline communicated on the registration platform or by the registration office and are subject to approval.

The new participant accepts all booked items and conditions connected to the original registration.

Administrative fee for approved name changes: SEK 350.

5. Cancellation and refunds

All cancellation requests must be submitted in writing to the IFPA Conference registration office at: registration@ifpa-pso.com. The date on which the written request is received will determine the applicable cancellation terms.

If a cancellation is received on or before the published cancellation deadline, the registration fee may be refunded with a deduction for administrative handling.

Administrative fee deducted from approved refunds: SEK 550.

If a cancellation is received after the published cancellation deadline, or if the participant does not attend the Conference, no refund will be made.

Approved refunds will be processed after the Conference or according to the timeline communicated by the registration office. Refunds will normally be made using the original payment method where possible.

6. Visa invitation letters

Participants who require a visa invitation letter may request one through the registration process or by contacting the registration office.

An invitation letter can only be issued after registration has been completed and the required registration fee has been paid.

The invitation letter does not guarantee that a visa will be granted. IFPA and its registration office cannot contact or intervene with embassies, consulates, or other authorities on behalf of participants.

7. Access, badges, and onsite conduct

Participants must wear their official Conference badge where required. Badges and registration codes are personal and may not be shared, exchanged, or transferred.

Participants are expected to contribute to a respectful, professional, and inclusive Conference environment. IFPA may refuse access or remove a participant from the Conference if this is necessary for safety, security, compliance, or the wellbeing of other participants, staff, speakers, partners, or exhibitors.

Access to specific areas or sessions may be subject to Swedish regulations, venue rules, sponsor compliance requirements, or capacity limitations.

8. Photography, video, and recording

The IFPA Conference may be photographed, filmed, livestreamed, or otherwise recorded by IFPA or its appointed suppliers for documentation, communication, reporting, and promotional purposes related to IFPA and the Conference.

By attending the Conference, participants acknowledge that they may appear in such materials. Participants who have concerns about being photographed or recorded should contact the registration office or onsite information desk.

Participants may not record sessions, presentations, posters, or other Conference content without prior permission from IFPA and, where applicable, the speaker or presenter.

9. Personal data and badge scanning

Personal data provided during registration will be processed by IFPA and its appointed registration office for the purpose of managing registration, participation, payment, communication, reporting, and other Conference-related administration, in accordance with applicable Swedish data protection legislation and the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

Where badge scanning is used by exhibitors, sponsors, or session organizers, scanning a badge may allow the receiving party to obtain selected registration information, such as name, organization, country, and email address. Participants should only allow badge scanning if they agree to sharing their information with that party.

10. Insurance and liability

Participants are responsible for arranging appropriate travel, health, accident, and personal property insurance before attending the Conference.

IFPA, the registration office, the venue, and appointed suppliers are not responsible for loss, theft, injury, damage, travel disruption, or other costs incurred by participants, except where liability cannot be excluded under mandatory Swedish law.

Participants take part in the Conference, related activities, travel, tours, and social events at their own risk.

11. Changes, postponement, or cancellation of the Conference

IFPA reserves the right to make changes to the Conference program, speakers, timetable, format, venue, or other arrangements where necessary.

If circumstances beyond IFPA's reasonable control prevent or significantly affect the delivery of the Conference, IFPA may postpone, modify, or cancel the Conference. Such circumstances may include, but are not limited to, government restrictions, public health events, extreme weather, strikes, travel disruption, security concerns, technical failure, venue unavailability, or other force majeure events.

IFPA will communicate material changes as soon as reasonably possible. IFPA is not responsible for travel, accommodation, or other costs incurred by participants as a result of changes, postponement, or cancellation, except where required under mandatory Swedish law.

12. Applicable law and final provisions

These Terms and Conditions are governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of Sweden.

If any part of these Terms and Conditions is found to be invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions will continue to apply.

Any questions regarding registration should be directed to the IFPA Conference registration office using the contact details provided on the registration platform or Conference website.
