BJD Abstract Publication Terms and License Agreement

IFPA Conference 2027
Effective date: 1 October 2026

The following terms and conditions apply to authors who elect to have an accepted conference abstract published in the British Journal of Dermatology (BJD) conference supplement.

Author Declarations

Publication of an abstract in the BJD supplement requires confirmation that:

- All co-authors have reviewed and approved the abstract submission and have authorized the submitting author to act on their behalf regarding publication.
- The abstract does not infringe any copyright, confidentiality, privacy or other third-party rights.
- Any permissions required for the use of third-party material included in the abstract have been obtained and any associated fees have been paid.

License Granted to BJD and Oxford University Press

To facilitate publication and dissemination of accepted abstracts, authors grant British Journal of Dermatology (BJD) and its publisher, Oxford University Press (OUP), the right to:

Publication and Distribution

Publish the final version of the conference abstract and distribute or communicate it to the public worldwide, either within the journal, independently, or together with related material, in print, electronic formats, or any other media now known or developed in the future.

Translation Rights

Prepare translations of the abstract and distribute such translations to the public. BJD and OUP may also authorize third parties to exercise these rights.

Depositing and Archiving

Deposit copies of the abstract in online repositories or archives maintained by OUP or by third parties authorized by OUP.

Administration of Subsidiary Rights

Administer subsidiary rights agreements with third parties for the duration of copyright and any subsequent renewals, extensions, revisions or revivals.